Dear Brother Jeff,

AN EVIDENTIAL REVIEW OF THE VPP THEORY

Greetings in the precious Name of our Lord Jesus Christ!

Many months ago, I shared various thoughts, analysis and findings with you on your VPP proposition and when you conceded that there was no “single purified text”, I had thought that you had seen through the un-sustainability of the VPP theory. But your publications continue to call all who are non-VPP, “neo-fundamentalists”, which is not helpful to the peace in our churches. If you were directing this only against the anti-KJV attackers, it would be wise and helpful to clearly state so and to exclude pro-KJV non-VPP brethren.

On the Dean Burgon Oath, my copy of Dean Burgon's “Inspiration and Interpretation” subsequently arrived, and on page 89 at the ending of “Chapter III entitled “Inspiration of Scripture – Gospel Difficulties. – The Word of God Infallible. – Other Sciences Subordinate to Theological Science”, it is clearly seen that the Dean referred to the Autographs.

I had remained burdened about the long-term divisive effect on our churches of the VPP theory, that either must be absolutely true or false – it cannot be both. I have as such completed and summarised all my review findings in the enclosed report. I had strictly controlled and restricted my previous findings to you, Rev Timothy Tow and Dr S H Tow, but the enclosed shall not be similarly restricted but may be made available for distribution according to the needs and as the Lord leads. The very first copy is enclosed for you as a matter of Christian brotherly courtesy.

My dear brother, as said before, I am fully with you in the fight against liberalism but we must do this with clarity and truth! We need not exaggerate because the Lord Himself will fight for us. If you can rebut the evidences herein submitted, do feel free to do so with hard facts. If the evidences are accurate but we choose not to submit to the truth, we have the Scriptures to admonish us (Tit 3:10).

Your brother in our Lord Jesus Christ,

Seng Hoo
